

FEBRUARY 2022

AFTER CANDLEMAS

The days are getting noticeably longer and brighter again.
After the darkness the light is returning, and with the light the warmth.
The soul also begins to glow again, and the dark shadows abate.
Nightmares have become less frequent.
The dreams become more colourful again.
Hope and confidence are growing again.
Resurrection.

Yes, I know, on February 2, it is too early to have Easter feelings, even if the first almond trees are wearing their bright wedding dresses. Somewhere behind the blue hills lurks Daddy Frost, and can come up with a nasty surprise at any time. But today, I will defy him and enjoy the mild air and the warm sun, and I will dance into the happy colours.

Without a protective mask.
