HEAVY BLUE

A cool evening breeze drives off the summery feelings and the warm colours.

The scent of damp soil reminds of harvested fields, and the call of the cranes is not far away anymore. Dark blue in the shadow, dark blue fills the night, dark blue settles down on the mind. Even dream wraps itself in blue shawls.

Now the light inside of us and in our thoughts becomes important.

It lightens the dark dreams, drives away melancholy and the fear of darkness.

A faint smile on the lips, a friendly nod or a helping hand carry a tranquil glow into the oppressive blue.

A warm waft of music, a constructive thought, a good book...
